1. DENISE MORRISON INTERIORS SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

This Laguna Niguel, California, residence is a study in patterns, from the mosaic of tile in the kitchen to the ornate throw pillows on the sofa. From room to room, intricate runners and rugs ground the space.

2. KASAMIA INTERIORS MIAMI

In a Coral Gables, Florida, dwelling, this sophisticated kitchen was renovated with white wood paneling, brass fixtures and marble countertops and walls. Two distinct spaces were created for dining and cooking, with appliances cleverly hidden.

3. CEARNAL COLLECTIVE, LLP LOS ANGELES

An updated take on classic farmhouse style, this new build in Santa Barbara, California, features white-paneled walls and a coffered ceiling, which contrast with dark cabinetry, iron light fixtures and marble countertops.

4. ANDREA GOLDMAN DESIGN CHICAGO

Set against a backdrop of neutral colors, the textures in a Wilmette, Illinois, house—designed by architect Paul Konstant—are the stars of the design, from stone covering the fireplace and shiplap walls to dynamic wallcoverings and a sisal area rug.

5. TRIBE DESIGN GROUP AUSTIN + SAN ANTONIO

The ranch aesthetic of this remodel in Austin is teeming with modern design, incorporating a muted palette with furnishings like a tufted coffee table and gold lighting and hardware.

6. BHDH DESIGN NEW YORK

An urban cowboy aesthetic was achieved in this Austin abode by incorporating new finishes into the existing spaces and furniture. Classic and elegant yet livable, the living room features an abundance of neutrals that reflect a more sun-bleached desert palette.

7. DENISE MCGAHA INTERIORS DALLAS + FORT WORTH

A Dallas home is surrounded by greenery, and the bold color is also brought inside with jungle green tiles in the kitchen, a candy apple green study and a wallpaper of vines climbing up the walls of the powder room.

8. ELLEN KAVANAUGH INTERIORS PALM BEACH + BROWARD

The ornate dining and sitting rooms in a Hamptons home are quite literally the palette of a peacock, with jewel-tone reupholstered furniture, throw pillows, blue-and-white chinoiserie and curtains printed with a bold pattern.

9. JESSICA HELGERSON INTERIOR DESIGN PACIFIC NORTHWEST

This more than 100-year-old Portland, Oregon, house underwent a remodel while still maintaining its historic qualities. Existing coffered ceilings, columns and ceiling rosettes were accented with a moody green and walnut color palette and a hand-painted mural of crawling ferns.

10. TALBOT COOLEY INTERIORS HOUSTON

This monochromatic Houston residence embraces a white, black and gray color palette with black steel doors, black-and-white polished porcelain floors, a multitier crystal chandelier, muted floral wallpaper and a grand piano.

11. ASHLEY GILBREATH INTERIOR DESIGN SOUTHEAST

Set on more than 30 acres, this Columbus, Georgia, home incorporates antiques, detailed upholstery and a soft color scheme for both a relaxing escape and a place to entertain. A sense of drama was added with green hues in the office and blue in the living room.

12. EIGELBERGER ARCHITECTURE AND DESIGN COLORADO

This Aspen, Colorado, dwelling is nestled into the forest and brings the outdoors in with the use of moss rock, poplar bark and cedar shingles, and reclaimed white oak. Hayden Mountain is in full view through a 30-foot sliding steel door.

13. ANGELICA HENRY DESIGN ARIZONA

Soothing cream, moss and dusty lavender decorate this lavish Glendale, Arizona, abode, infused with natural light, wanderlust arches and cathedral ceilings inspired by the clients' travels to Jaipur, India.

14. HEATHER HILLIARD DESIGN SAN FRANCISCO

An elaborate wallcovering envelops the music room of this Los Altos Hills, California, house, where the owners' expansive collection of antique books and record albums can be enjoyed. The design team created a modern version of a Victorian parlor with vintage-inspired brands.
